Welcome Screen

HEY, BOOMERS!

What? Two weeks gone by already? Guess it must have because it's time to welcome you to the second totally sensational issue of SONIC THE COMIC.

With the dust still settling on our astounding launch issue, me and the humes round here (who think they're in charge) have been working flat out to make this issue even better.

For a kick-off there's your free STC badge, exclusive to Sonic Boomers everywhere. Pin it on your chest, it's a fashion statement of the highest order!

Then we have the start of a brand-new comic strip - WONDER BOY. You've played the games on the Mega Drive and Master System, now join Shion The Wonder Boy in an all-new adventure as he prepares to enter Demon World!

OK, free badge, new series - what else? Only the best line-up of Sega-powered comic strips and features ever packed between two covers, that's what.

If all that wasn't enough I need your help. Come on, Boomers, STC needs your input in all sorts of ways: High scores, letters, drawings, hints, tips, competition entries and, most importantly, suggestions for games worthy of being turned into pulse-racing STC comic strips. It all has to come from you. Get writing - or use the STC Data Strip inside the back cover.

Before that, however, don't forget to order the next Segasational issue of Sonic The Comic - with your free double-sided Sonic poster! No, don't thank me. I'm only doing what I do best.

WORLD OF SEGA

Racing to the Future

Damon Hill, Formula 1 racing ace, talks to STC

As if belting round the world's toughest motor racing circuits at speeds in excess of 180 miles per hour wasn't exciting enough, Damon Hill is a bit of a video game fan. Hill, racing partner to Alain Prost in the all-conquering, Sega-sponsored Williams Formula 1 team, is rapidly making a name for himself in the 1993 Grand Prix season. At the recent Sega UK Challenge (where Damon presented the prizes) he took a few moments out of his hectic schedule to talk exclusively to SONIC THE COMIC.

You'd think the lightning-fast reflexes needed for driving a high-performance racing car would help with video games. Not according to Damon.

"The reverse is more often true," he told us. "In fact the future generations of motor racing drivers could find it helps to have been a good games player. Anything you can do that speeds up reactions will help in racing."

Damon Hill at the wheel of a Sega Game Gear

What about all these motor racing games available on Sega and other systems? How do they compare to the real thing?

"Well, it doesn't cost so much when you make a mistake, like piling your car into a track barrier!"

Good point. But how do they handle?

"The concentration you need is not any less than the real thing," Damon told us. So remember that when you're next revving up SUPER MONACO GRAND PRIX on the Mega Drive!

Damon and the whole Williams team are very pleased to have Sega as one of their prime sponsors. In fact, the appearance of a certain spiky blue hedgehog in the Williams pits has sparked off a new rivalry with their 'arch enemies' in the McLaren team. Whenever McLaren beats Williams in a race a squashed hedgehog symbol is painted on their cars. But whenever Williams win their cars sport a skull and crossbones!

JUNGLE STRIKE

ADVENTURE
1 PLAYER

MD

The hot follow-up to the mega-selling Desert Strike has arrived! JUNGLE STRIKE has all-new adventures and challenges to take you to new heights of thrill-power!

You, as the hero, have to take on the son of a desert madman who you destroyed in a previous adventure. The son has joined up with a South American drug baron to revenge his father's death.

The battle takes you to different terrains and you now have multiple craft to aid you. You get to fly a Commanche Attack Chopper, Stealth Fighter, Armed Attack Hovercraft and a Special Forces motorbike.

There are nine campaigns and over 50 missions to complete that take you from Washington DC to the South American jungles and rivers. You'll encounter snow, islands and jungle temples. To help you in battle there are 26 new weapons and much tougher gameplay. You have to pilot each craft over terrain and destroy the enemy using whatever weapons that are available or can be found.

Presentation has really been beefed up with the cartridge capacity doubled from 8 to 16 megs. There are digitised voices, sampled sounds, cinematic sequences and plenty of animated enemies to take out. - TT.

FINAL FIGHT

game type:
FIGHTING
1 - 2 PLAYERS

MCD

FINAL FIGHT is one of the first games to really show what the Mega CD can do for gamesplaying.

The basic problem you first encounter in this game is that the Mayor's daughter - your sweetheart(!) - has been abducted by vicious hoods. There's nothing to do but invade the gangsters' hideout and battle the bad guys. Just to make matters worse the Mayor is under pressure to give in to the villains and let them run riot in the city - that or he never sees his daughter again.

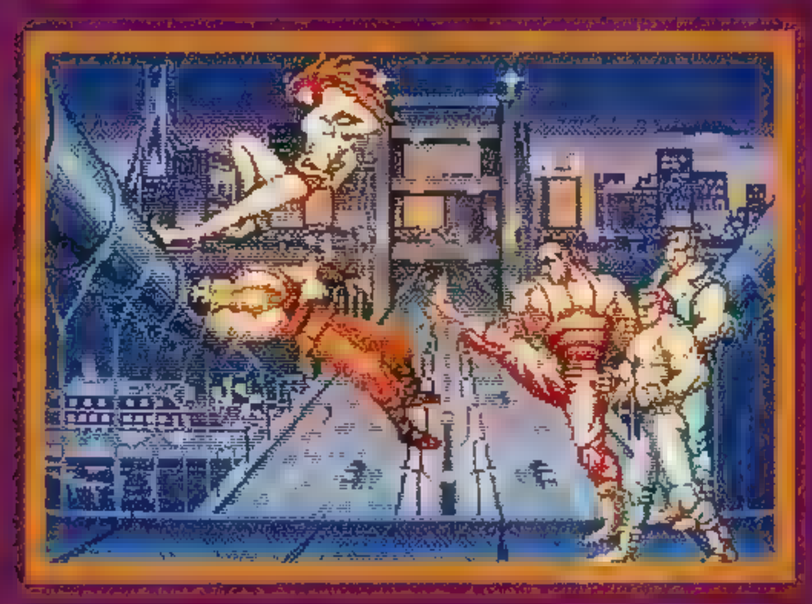
The action takes place against a horizontally-scrolling backdrop where you have to defeat a set number of enemies before you can move on to the next section. There are power gauges to show your and the current attacking enemies' power. If your gauge hits zero then you lose one of your lives but continue on from your current position.

There are six stages to fight through and special bonus rounds to rack up those crucial extra points.

You can choose from three different players at game start; Cody, Guy or Haggar. Each one has their own attack style and special moves. There are also two player options.

Extra food, weapons and money can be picked up along the way by smashing background items like telephone booths and dustbins.

What really sets FINAL FIGHT apart from other fighting games is the superbly detailed graphics, great sampled sound and the heavy, heavy duty action around every corner. - TT.



BATMAN RETURNS

game type:
ADVENTURE

MCD

Mega Drive owners who bought BATMAN RETURNS on cartridge may have been disappointed at the lack of playability. The Mega CD version is a whole new experience with extra levels and full-blown orchestrated music.

The basic platform game is still there but extra action scenes have been added, featuring a car and the BatBoat, and, as already mentioned, the music has been completely redone.

The aim of the game is to thwart the evil Penguin by fighting your way through Gotham City. On the streets or in the sewers the action is hot although the playability is tame.

The Mega CD version, with masses of scaling and rotation effects, shows just how close this machine is getting to the arcade machines. The Batmobile driving stages are amazing. The buildings whiz by and the road effect is stunningly smooth. You have to ram, shoot or launch missiles to blow up other bikes, jeeps or cars and then face evil, end-of-level bosses who are really tough.

The presentational touches are excellent. The BatBoat sequence has you zooming along through underground caves facing humungous doors and bosses.

The nasties are fast and loose and you need all the skill you can muster to beat them.

The standard of Mega CD has been set. Doubters who dismissed the system based on the early releases should check out the Mega CD titles in this Review Zone to see the awesome future of video gaming. - TT.

NIGHT TRAP

game type:
ADVENTURE
1 PLAYER
MCD

Forget all the rabid media attention this game received some time back. NIGHT TRAP is actually one of the most exciting games to hit the Mega CD yet.

You have to monitor the events in a house full of weird ghouls, a house where visitors have disappeared under strange circumstances. A party of five girls are about to arrive for the weekend. Your job is to check all the rooms monitoring the action and doing your darndest to protect the girls from the weird Augs who have invaded the house. You do this by watching real movie scenes as you go from room to room and triggering colour-coded traps. These codes can be changed by characters in the house so you have to listen in on conversations to know what the codes are.

There is an overall map of the house and the action happens in real time. So you can't slack off, you have to pay attention!

This is a very challenging game and the temptation to just sit back and watch a scene for too long can spell doom for the girls!

Definitely a Mega CD classic with some dynamic music and creepy sound effects.

STEEL TALONS

ACTION
MD

Join the US Army's super elite combat chopper team The Steel Talons with this action-packed combat flight sim. Take the controls of your helicopter gunship and fly against enemy tanks, missiles, guns, jets, helicopters and more.

On offer are twelve missions involving different types of terrain, each one filled with a whole variety of hostiles. To set you up a training mode has you literally flying through hoops as you learn the relatively simple controls and weapon systems of the gunship. There's also a head-to-head mode for aerial combat - for those who like shooting things out of the air!

Not a bad combat sim at all. The 360-degree polygon graphics scroll around smoothly but lack the detail and depth of similar games, like CHX ATTACK CHOPPER, for example. However, Steel Talons more than makes up for this deficit in the action stakes. Either flying through steep valleys or taking out multiple targets, there are very few quiet moments!

There's a strange lack of exterior views, usually associated with flight/comabt sims. STEEL TALONS has a single zoom in/out feature that either gives you a pilot's-eye view or puts you behind the chopper in spotter plane mode. - RD

Taking Over Control

New Sega Mouse and 4-player controllers coming soon

Sega is determined to give you even better control over specialised games with the announcement of two new control devices.

The Sega Mouse will open up a whole new world of adventure and RPG games on the Mega Drive and Mega CD. These games, which require precise control of characters, on-screen options and pull-down menus, have always been difficult to access with the standard Sega joypad. The new Mouse controller features two buttons mounted on the top and a rollerball underneath. Moving it around on a flat surface enables you to select on-screen items by pointing and clicking. A unique feature of the Sega Mouse is that it can be turned upside down and used as a trackball-like hand controller. The Mouse goes on sale in September and will cost £24.99.

The second device, called the Multi-tap, enables up to four players to be connected to a single joystick port on the Mega Drive. This has been designed for sports games like Soccer and Tennis, where several players can take part.

There is an option for a second Multi-tap to be connected to the Mega Drive's other joystick port - enabling a massive eight-player team to take part.

However, this is only possible on games that cater for up to eight players.

The Multi-tap also is available in September, price yet to be fixed.

Rentacart

Try-before-you buy scheme kicks off in video shops

Sega video games are now available to rent in 160 Blockbuster and Ritz video stores around the country. This means that getting hold of the latest hot Sega cart will be as easy as popping down to the video shop and forking over £2.

Blockbuster and Ritz stores will be stocking a wide range of Sega titles including mega-hits like Sonic The Hedgehog, Castle of Illusion, Lemmings, Golden Axe and many more. Around 250 titles are likely to be on the list.

Rental costs £2 per cart, this is for overnight only at present (so play fast!) and you have to be a Ritz or Blockbuster member. It is planned also to offer the games for sale later.

The scheme is, at the moment, only running in London, the South East and Scotland. However, it is hoped that all 800 Blockbuster and Ritz shops will be renting Sega games by later this summer.

Catch it if you Can!

STC will be keeping up with the progress of the buses by letting you know in each issue where they will be during the next two weeks. So, if you live or are on holiday in any of the following places, look out for the Sega Bus!

Pirate TV Storms the Airwaves

Sega's mega-million pound ad makes records

Pirate TV on the air and breaking records

You've seen it. You've oohed, you've aahed, you've been gob-smacked! Sega's £1 million plus Pirate TV television ad for the Mega CD has wowed the nation and gone straight into the record books. At two and a half minutes long it is the longest single TV ad ever shown and has gained a place in the Guinness Book of Records.

The TV ad, just part of the whole Pirate TV campaign, which also included posters, press ads and such totally ficticious products as A La Kat cat food and Ecco washing powder (who thought those were real?), was designed to be revolutionary and still in keeping with Sega's 'street cred' image. It's a stunning feast of eye-popping visuals, including a 'mini-remake' of the war movie Apocalypse Now actually made on location in Thailand. The ad stars actor Steve O'Donnell, the 'demon barber' from Sega's earlier TV ad campaign.

Keep an eye out for bits of the ad cut down into 60 second chunks, being used to advertise other Sega software during the rest of the year.

BENN FIGHTS ALI

Billed as The Fight That Could Never Happen, Nigel Benn, the most explosive boxer of recent years, took on Muhammad Ali, Heavyweight World Champion of a generation ago, in the boxing ring recently. The electronic boxing ring!

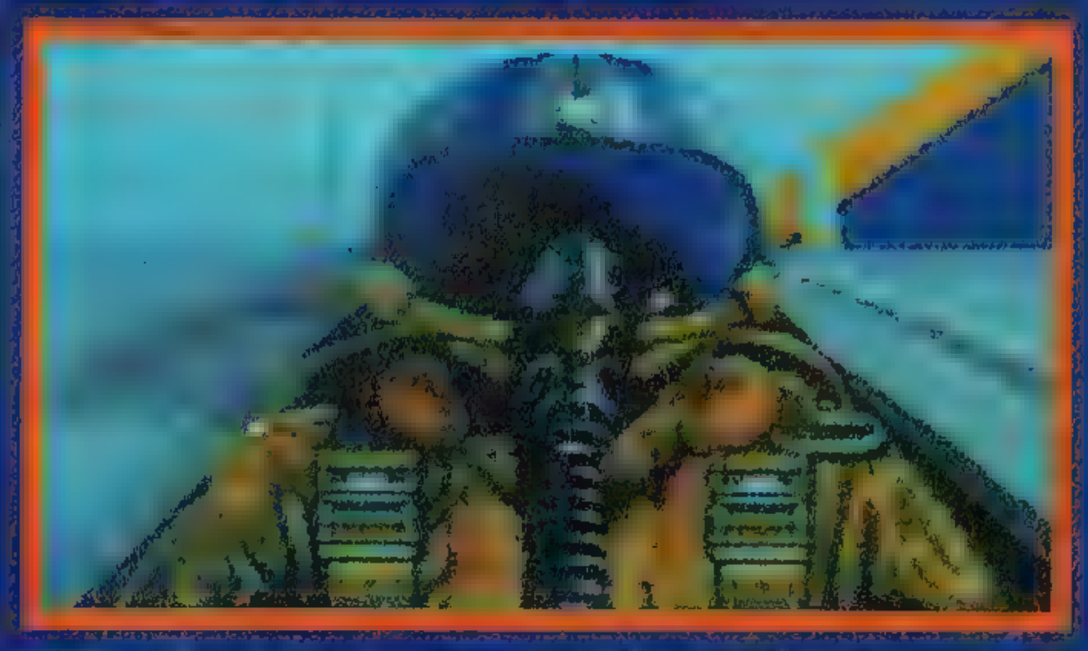
The Dark Destroyer teamed up with The Greatest as they annihilated opponent after opponent in Virgin's upcoming Mega Drive release MUHAMMAD ALI'S HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING. It was a bit of a one-sided fight as Nigel was the one controlling the action.

Benn, a keen Mega Drive player, found the going tough but ultimately triumphed.

"I took a few good shots but I'm still standing," admitted the British champ in a post fight interview.

See how long you can last against Ali in MUHAMMAD ALI'S HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING, due out for the Mega Drive in July, price £39.99.

STRIKE EAGLE COMING IN FAST



F-15 STRIKE EAGLE II, the classic computer flight sim, is due for release on the Mega Drive this September. Apart from being a great flight sim it also marks MicroProse's entry into the Sega market.

If F-15 STRIKE EAGLE II is half as good as its computer game versions, this will be a cart that will fly off the shelves!

TOASTED SONIC

We all know Sonic is a hot character but two teenagers, Wayne and James Turner, found out just how hot he is last month.

While engrossed in playing SONIC THE HEDGEHOG they forgot a piece of toast they had left under the grill. The resulting fire caused £15,000 worth of damage to their house in North Tidworth, Wiltshire.

Wayne and James escaped the inferno unscathed. Hey, guys - next time hit the pause button!

GAMES GO CHEAP

In a move to help ease the strain of high game prices, Sega have re-released 40 titles for £19.99 each, many of them chart-topping classics.

GOLDEN AXE II, REVENGE OF SHINOBI (STC superstars both!), TOE JAM & EARL, STRIDER and JOE MONTANA FOOTBALL are just some of the games now effectively going for half-price. Well worth a place in any decent collection.

SONIC THE HEDGEHOG 2 — Tips

MS

Yes it's time once again to tell you about a cheat for this totally unknown game about an animal that is more acrobatic than a Kangaroo.

• Level Select: When the Sega logo disappears press UP, LEFT and both buttons on the joypad in port 2 and count to twelve slowly. Now hold down UP and RIGHT and count to five. Now press UP, LEFT and the two buttons again. When Robotnik goes off the top right of the oval press UP and RIGHT until both Sonic and Tails appear. Plug your joypad into port 1, press button 2 and a level select cheat will appear.

NB, the above pic is taken from a Mega Drive

All about Sonic

Dear Sonic The Comic,

Please can you tell me why Sonic is blue, how old he is, and any other information about Sonic, because I think he's ace!

KIM ANAND, SOUTHPORT, CHESHIRE. AGE 8. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

I think he's ace, too, Kim. Pity he never stays around for long enough for a chat.

As for Sonic's origins and more information about him, keep your eyes on the Sonic story in every issue of STC. We're going to be revealing his origin, Robotnik's origin and a whole lot more you've not even asked about!

Major things will be happening in Sonic's world very soon. Keep on reading STC to find out exactly what!

My mum's a Pushover!

Dear Sonic The Comic,

What a comic! There's something for everyone in it. My little sister has drawn the enclosed pic of Ecco and his friends; I very generously gave her some of the stickers, which were great by the way. I loved the SHINOBI story, especially the drawings; so much action and adventure.

I'd like a Mega Drive for my birthday and I've shown your comic to my mum and even she approves, so it can't be bad! She says it's not such an 'assalt on the eyes,' so you never know, you might just be responsible for the best birthday present ever!

In the meantime, lots more tips and hints, please!

DAVID MANSON, BRISTOL. AGE 10, GG OWNER. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

Lucky little Boomer, aren't you? I slave night and day on this comic and those boring humes in charge won't even let me have a Mega Drive...

Penpal Corner

Dear Sonic The Comic,

I'd like to reply to the very dubious letter from a 'Mr Oldfash' (?) in your first issue.

Don't you have anything better to do with your time than write stupid letters about things you obviously know nothing about?

Computers are the way forward and computer games are surely better than watching violence (and other mindless rubbish) on TV. The games also help develop reflex actions and concentration skills, not to mention that they keep young people off the streets!

There's nothing wrong with a little progression; we can't really expect our children to read 'The Famous Five' any more, can we?

MRS TING (CONCERNED MUM), SOUTH LONDON. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

A last Request

Dear Megadroid,

Suggestion: Can you make DECAPATTACK into a comic story?

ROBIN DEWART, SOUTHAMPTON. AGE 12. MD OWNER. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

Response: Yes we can; watch this space. There's a badge in the post for you, Robin.

Get Printed + Win a Prize!

It's true! Every letter and drawing appearing on this page wins a Segasational prize! Yes, this brilliant Sonic 2 badge - exclusive to STC - can be yours!
